A Topeka man tells this story. He has a friend living in St. Louis who is quite wealthy. The St. Louisan a few weeks ago visited Universal City, Cal., while taking in the expositions. While strolling around the grounds a man tapped him on the shoulder and said, "Line up at the window and get your 'time."

The rich Missourian was puzzled but did as he was requested. With a string of other men ne marched up to window in a building and was handa window in a building and was named a yellow envelope. In this envelope was $1.50. The St. Louis man pocketed the money and walked away. That was the nearest he ever came to "supe" in a movie company.

The most interesting suggestion which has come forth this season emanates from Marguerite McNulty, an ingenue, a young member of the dramatic fraternity but none the .ss deeply interested in her art. Miss McNulty makes the entirely feasible suggestion, that each summer the members of the dramatic profession meet in a sort of chautauqua, where the leading members of the stage will be invited to address them on subjects associated with the stage. The idea appears to appeal strongly to a num-ber of prominent players interviewed.

An erroneous report was made this week regarding "The Unforgiven," a one reel Vitagraph film barred by Rev. Festus Foster, a film censor. The matter was taken up before the appeal board, the members of which sustained Rev. Mr. Foster in his decision.

Walter K. Hill, better known as "Walthill," for many years connected with Variety, the Billboard and the Clipper, is now getting out a clever sheet himself in New York known as "Clip and Paste." The usual methods of eastern publicity men to get into western papers are discarded by Hill in this new idea. Hill is putting out in his publication a quantity of bright, newsy little stories, instead of filling up western waste baskets with cut and dried columns of mush. The trouble with the larger per cent of press agents is that their copy is too long and is filled with more adjectives than necessary.

DEFECTIVE EYESIGHT

So Common It's Appalling; Protect Your Children With Electric Light. These fine October school days, the good old "golden rule" days of youth, (alas for the dyspeptic that named them "melancholy") thousands of Topeka school children are tripping to school, poring over books that will enable them to be "masters of their fate."

Wonder if their parents ever stopped to think about protecting their eyesight? They have bought books, tablets, pencils, shoes, clothing and lunch baskets, yet it never occurred to them to give their children the very best light possible, which is electric light. Hundreds of school children in Topeka, no doubt, are studying their lessons every night by totally inadequate light that is injurious and damaging to their eyesight. In the office of a Topeka eye specialist the other day, the writer was appalled at the number of people continually com-ing in with defective eyes. All were there for treatment.

Parents, no matter how much education you give your child, you handicap him when you neglect his Give your children the very best light possible. They are entitled to it. You yourself are entitled to it. This is the age of electricity, not pine knots. Electrify your home and use the most brilliant light of all. Rear a family of strong eyed, healthy children.

Sixteen homes in the eastern part of the city and thirteen in the west part contracted for electric wiring and fixtures the past week and will have better eyesight. Those in the western part were: Elizabeth J. Adams, 1730 Clay; C. E. Maines, 1725 Clay; Mrs. Mary E. Reeder, 1716 Lincoln; Mrs. E. W. McClure, 1227 Kansas; Mrs. A. C.
